Detention by Soviets Termed 'Like Movie'

Trio on Vacation Cruise Taken Into Custody in Finland.

STOCKHOLM.—"It seemed like a movie," said Anne Blumenfeld, 20, of San Rafael Calif., in describing her experiences when she and two companions were held incommunicado almost four weeks by the Russians in their leased Porkkala military zone in Finland.

Her companions, Robert Storch of Newark, N. J., and Gordon Thomas McGill Lawson of Glasgow, Scotland, said she did not lose courage when the vacation cruise to Helsinki that was planned for a month lasted nine weeks because of their detention.

"Not once did she fall down," said Storch and Lawson. "She served us three meals a day including Russian 'Korsha,' or mush if you will, in a new way every day."

The trio set out about July 15 from Stockholm, where Anne and Bob were exchange students and Lawson an artist, aboard Lawson's 30-foot yacht Smeorach. By accident they landed in the Russian military zone.

Russian soldiers took them into custody. Storch said they were stripped of belongings and everything was taken away including their belts.

"It was quite embarrassing to have to hold up your pants with your hands. They feared we were going to hang ourselves."

"I was petrified they were going to strip me, too," said Anne. "But they left me with slacks and sweater."

They were questioned thoroughly by the Russians. "Some sessions were rather long," Storch said, "but they were lenient and courteous. They put cigarets on the table and told us to help ourselves."

He added that afterwards the Russians "let us live aboard the Smeorach where they brought us all kinds of food, including apples and cucumbers. Anne even made jam."

Alabama Court Rules Hitler Same as Skunk

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — It's illegal in Alabama now to call anyone Adolf Hitler or a skunk—which, as far as the state court of appeals is concerned, are one and the same thing.

The court upheld a $900 judgment by a circuit court judge who made the award to a plaintiff allegedly compared to the former German dictator.

The defendant, it was charged, had posted a sign over nine bales of cotton, likening the plaintiff to Hitler.

Since it is libelous to compare a person to "an odious, foul or despised animal—for example, a skunk" — the court ruled that the same goes for calling anyone a Hitler.

Toy Train Travels Over 200,000 Miles in 24 Years

OMAHA, NEB. — A freight train that has traveled more than 200,000 miles in the last 24 years without running on a single length of rail—that never carried a pound of cargo or consumed a lump of coal—is the prized possession of Union Pacific railroad.

The rolling paradox is a miniature freight train, built in 1923 for a Safety Day parade.

Originally constructed on a "temporary" basis for the one parade only, the train subsequently was requested by first one community then another for various parades, rodeos and celebrations.

By 1929 the demand began to pour in to the point where it became necessary to maintain detailed booking records. Today the books show a total of 162,966 miles in addition to numerous unlogged trips.

The situation was not eased during the subsequent years when the railroad constructed a miniature passenger train and a miniature streamliner.

Both of the latter, after a number of heavy years that saw them trundling from the midlands to the Pacific coast and back again, were scrapped. But the hardy little freight train still is wowing them, whether it be a sophisticated city or a sleepy hamlet.

Since the train is as tall as a man, the word "miniature" is perhaps too weak an adjective to describe it. The locomotive superstructure is mounted on a tractor, the cars on tractor trailers. The engine pulls a tender, stock car, box car, coal car, tank car and caboose.

New-Baby Boom at 37-Year High, Institute Reports

WASHINGTON. — Native American white women in the 25-year-old age group are having more babies these days than at any time since 1910, according to a report at the International Statistical institute.

Pascal K. Whelpton of Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, told the 55-nation gathering that women born in 1921 had 958 births per 1,000 up to last year. Women of the 1900-1904 period, however, had 1,068 babies per 1,000 by the time they were 25.

Whelpton said he concluded that the current wave of fertility represents "primarily the making up of births postponed during the depression."

Cube Turkey Steaks To Aid Consumption

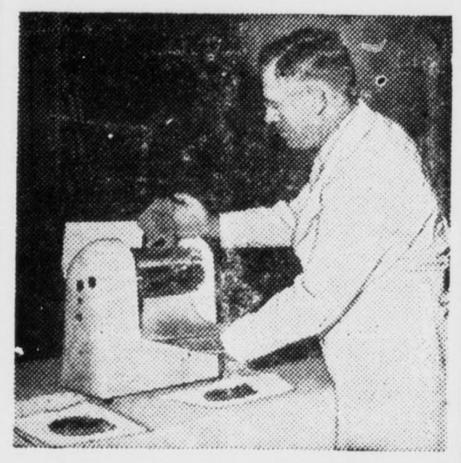
Process Boosts Market For Large Type Fowl

By W. J. DRYDEN

Turkey raisers want to produce the larger holiday bird—the public wants the smaller fowl. The cost for a large tom is too much for the average family. To produce a small turkey the cost per pound of gain is far greater than in the case of the larger fowl.

Desiring to create a year around consumer demand for turkeys, the National Turkey federation and the Poultry and Egg National board decided to utilize the machine which for years has been turning out the beef cubed steak.



Making turkey steaks with cube machine.

The meat is removed from the turkey and sent through the machine and out comes a four or six ounce steak, ready for the stove and then the lunch box or the formal dinner.

Consumption of turkeys has been less than five pounds per capita. With development of the turkey steak, the turkey industry is endeavoring to attain a per capita output 10 times higher. The cubed turkey steak can be quick frozen and packaged in the same manner as many other kinds of steaks. This new plan is expected to assure the turkey raiser that there will be no overproduction of turkeys.

Fattening Crate

It may be advisable to confine poultry in small pens for market feeding. This fattening crate is easily made by the poultry raiser and also will make an ideal broody coop. Feeding and watering troughs should be placed so that the birds may secure food and water between the slats. Place a wire bottom so that drippings can fall through to a removable dropping board for cleaning.

De-Icer for Livestock

A barnyard drinking cup in an open area where stock have access to it from all sides has been developed recently. The cup rests on a heavy steel cylinder installed in the earth to protect the water supply pipe, electric heating unit for the cup, heating cable for the pipe, and thermostatic switch. —Drawing by Geneva Agricultural Experiment station.

Cannibalism Termed Frequent in Winter

Cannibalism may be started in the laying house during the winter months due to confinement of birds formerly adjusted to ranges, to lack of proper air, improper housing, floor laying, injured birds left in house, blow-outs and insufficient and improperly constructed nests as well as idleness, crowding and inadequate eating and drinking space. The remedy will lie in removal of the offenders.

Corn Is Preserved In New Field Method

Ice-Dipping Keeps Sugar Content of Vegetable

By W. J. DRYDEN

Ice-dipping of sweet corn in the fields has been tried out during the past season and has proven that all possibility of the corn losing its sugar content has been eliminated.

The ice water on the field made it possible to dip the sweet corn in water immediately, thus keeping in the tenderness which usually is destroyed if the ears are exposed to temperatures above 40 degrees for a matter of even a few hours. The tests were conducted by the University of Illinois in cooperation with A & P stores.

Top: Harvesting the corn. Center: Bagged corn placed in large tank for ice bath. Bottom: Preiced corn on the market.

Refugees From Eastern Germany Will Get Land

WIESBADEN, GERMANY. — Under its land reform program, the state of Hesse recently turned over 5,000 acres of arable land to 100,000 refugees from eastern Germany.

The two-year land reform program calls for distribution of 80,000 acres of arable land among 400,000 refugees, expellees and other landless Germans.

The land will come from expropriated Nazis, former Wehrmacht or community properties, or very large estates.

MISQUOTATIONS

* * *

The two most widely quoted words in English are the Bible and Shakepeare. But, more often than not, our quotations turn out to be misquotations.

For example, the Bible does not stigmatize money as the root of evil. The exact wording of I Tim. VI:10 is: "The love of money is the root of all evil," which puts a different complexion on the matter.

The popular saying, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may die," is made up of fragments of these three versions: "To eat, and to drink, and to be merry."—Eccl. VIII:15. "Let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we shall die." — Isaiah XXII:13: "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry."—Luke XII:19.

We often hear it said that the lion will lie down with the lamb; but again this is a garbling, for Isaiah XI:6 states: "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid."

Stock of Food Is at High In German-American Zone

BERLIN. — Accelerated bread grain shipments from the United States have brought food stocks in the combined British - American zones of Germany to an occupation high and permitted issuance of the full bread ration to the civilian population, the American military government reported.

In the first three weeks of September approximately 366,000 tons of American bread grains arrived in Germany valued at 40.5 million dollars. In addition, the U. S. and British military governments imported other foodstuffs valued at $400,000 to feed the Germans. The cost of these imports is borne equally by American and British taxpayers.
